

Jiffy-Jell

Mint Flavor

Jiffy-Jell comes in fresh-fruit flavors for dessert. But it also comes in mint flavor, to make instant garnish jell.

The mint flavor comes sealed in a vial, so it keeps its strength and freshness. It makes a green jell with a wealth of fresh mint flavor.

Serve with cold meats or roast lamb. Or mix in meat scrappage before cooling and make a meat loaf of it.

Try Loganberry Jiffy-Jell for a fruit dessert, and Mint for a garnish jell. They will delight you.

D. C. AGE ESCAPES FROM PRISON CAMP

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Lieut. John Donaldson, the third man from Washington, D. C., who has brought down, officially, five enemy airplanes, is in London today on an extended furlough, following his spectacular escape with two other American aces from a German prison camp at Fresnes.

Lieutenants Donaldson, R. A. Anderson, of Honolulu, and T. E. Hastings, of Westbury, R. I., made their way to Holland after a twenty-four day hike through Belgian territory occupied by the Germans.

Donaldson, who is a son of Gen. T. Q. Donaldson, of 1825 Wyoming avenue northwest, has been in France with the American aviation service for the last six months. During that time he has been officially credited with five German planes, but reports say that he has actually downed four more planes than he is credited with.

Following is Donaldson's story of the capture and spectacular escape of the three lieutenants:

"I was downed at Arras on August 27," said Anderson. "They were five to one against me. After having been wounded three times I fell 3,000 feet and was taken to the prison camp at Fresnes."

Tillinghast was brought down near Cambrai on September 22, when thirty to fifty Hun planes attacked him, he said.

"When I was separated from the squadron I coasted to the ground and the machine came to a halt in front of a Hun dugout, when the engine went dead. The Fritzies came out and shook hands. They said I ought to be glad to be out of the war. That night I slept in a church and then was removed to Fresnes."

Donaldson, who is an ace, being officially credited with bringing down five Huns and unofficially to have destroyed nine, was attacked by three German planes near Cambrai September 1 at a height of 8,000 feet.

"I managed to down one of them in three minutes," he said, "but a bullet hit my engine and downed me. I landed almost simultaneously with the Hun that I had downed. However the enemy plane went up in flames, burning the pilot alive. The Germans congratulated me on my escape."

"I was taken to Conde, where I met Lieut. Oscar Mandel, of New York, on September 3. Mandel and I escaped from prison by jumping from a window on the second floor. We landed in the street and quickly mixed with the crowd. In that way we got out of the city and reached an unguarded German airfield. After having difficulty in trying to run out a plane, we finally grew exasperated and tore down the tent. At dawn we got the plane in shape to fly. Just then a German mechanic approached and discovered us. He raised a yell. We nabbed him, and in the tussle he stabbed me in the back. Mandel put him out of commission by hitting him over the head with a flashlight. Then we ran for it."

"We passed through seven lines of occupied trenches, and got to a shell hole before the German first line, where we hid all day. During that day an English battery wiped out a Hun battery near by. At night we advanced across No Man's Land and reached a swamp, where we peeled off our clothes and were just ready to dive when a Hun patrol, repairing wires which the English battery had mauled, discovered and captured us. We were kept fourteen days in the 'solitary' on bread and water."

"There were five of us," he said, "including an English corporal. We planned our escape for three days. All of us were imprisoned above the guard room on the same floor so we managed to loosen the heavy padlocks on the doors. Meantime Mandel and Donaldson with a saw cut a hole through the roof. On the night of September 2, while the guard played checkers downstairs, the five of us climbed to the roof and slid down the side of the building into a court. We climbed a 'wall into a garden and so reached a canal and swam in it, floating our bundles of clothes across by means of a wooden plank."

Then we made our way into the open country and reached a barracks where a sentry halted us, but we got by when we answered 'was ist' to his challenge. After that we kept to the fields, traveling nights and sleeping days in the woods and in barns. At daybreak on the 27th we reached the Franco-Belgian frontier. The Belgians were fine. They said the Americans had saved Belgium and 'we'll save you'. Belgians hid us at many points until we finally reached Brussels. We had already obtained clothes here, and we covered up our uniforms with civilian stuff and walked the streets of Brussels."

A Tiresome Hike.
"At daylight Mandel and the corporal left us in Brussels. We haven't heard from either since."

"We continued our flight and reached Hacht on October 1 at midnight. Suddenly we heard the click of a sentry's rifle and turned around—face to face with another sentry. We uttered guttural greetings and kept on going. On the 14th of October we reached the Holland border, where we spent a week reconnoitering to find a place to cross. This was hard, because there was an electric wire barrier, charged with 5,000 volts."

"Finally we discovered an opening and crawled for four hours on our bellies, making all of 100 yards in that time. Then we waited until the German sentries were far apart, jumped up and ran like hell to Holland, which was half a mile away. We heard a shot and a yell but didn't stop. We kept on until we reached Weert, where we took a train for Rotterdam."

Albert Cabell Ritchie, counsel for the war industries board, gave a dinner last night at the Elks lodge, 1000 Pennsylvania avenue, for some members of the War Industries Board, including Bernard Baruch, its chairman; J. The marriage of General and Mrs. Devore took place at Boston the last of August, a week prior to his departure for France.

The marriage is announced of Capt. William Devereaux Langhorne, U. S. A., of Lynchburg, Va., now stationed at Camp Lee, Va., to Miss Myrtle F. Davidson, of Boston. The ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock yesterday in the Church of the Epiphany, by the Rev. Randolph H. McKim, rector, in the presence of only the families.

Miller-Booth.
St. Margaret's Church was the scene of a charming wedding at noon today when Miss Marian Booth, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Fenton W. Booth, became the bride of Leroy Baldwin Miller, U. S. A. Mr. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Miller, of Indianapolis, who came to Washington for the wedding.

The church was simply but effectively decorated with pink chrysanthemums and pink and white chrysanthemums were used at the home of Judge and Mrs. Booth in Lamont street, where an informal breakfast was given after the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. C. H. Miller, and the bridesmaids, Miss Louise Booth, another sister, and Miss Margaret Ashford were bridesmaids. William Dalton was best man and the ushers were Lieut. Lewis Breuninger and Sergeant Ralph Black.

The maid of honor wore a becoming costume of orchid satin combined with silver lace and trimmed with narrow bands of ermine. The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned on similar lines, Miss Ashford wearing turquoise blue and Miss Booth pale green. They all wore black tulle hats, and carried sheaves of pink chrysanthemums.

The bride's gown was of soft ivory satin, draped with silver lace and trimmed about the bodice and sleeves with silver lace. The skirt was made short and there was a narrow train hung from the shoulders. She wore a tulle veil held with orange blossoms and carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. Miller and his bride will go to Princeton, N. J. He is a student in the training camp for artillery officers there. Mrs. Miller's traveling costume is a smart suit of brown duvetyne trimmed with teal and she will wear a small brown velvet hat trimmed with a brown feather. After the war Mr. and Mrs. Miller expect to make their home in Indianapolis.

Mrs. William Converse Kendall and her daughter, Miss Minerva C. Kendall, who spent the summer and early autumn at Waukegan, Camp, Chicago, Ill., have returned to Washington for the winter. Dr. W. C. Kendall is expected back shortly.

To Hold Ball.
The Southern Relief Society takes pleasure in announcing that their twenty-sixth annual ball, for the destitute families of the South, residing in the District of Columbia, will be held at the New Willard Hotel, Monday evening, February 3, 1919.

It will be held under the direction of Mrs. Chisolin as chairman.

A benefit dance for the Woman's Overseas Hospital will be held in the Harrington Hotel ball room, on Saturday, Nov. 9.

To Wed Soon.
The marriage of Miss Anna Scott Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Todd C. Sharp, and Jeremiah Toward Fisher, will take place Saturday evening, November 23, at the Vermont Avenue Christian church. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Earle Wilfay, of that church, in the presence of his relatives and friends, and the bride will be given in marriage by her father. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents at 1523 Vermont avenue.

Mr. Fisher is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of Milwaukee, Wis., and is a post-graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Sharp is a Washington girl and is prominently known in dramatic circles of this city.

Mr. Fisher and his bride will spend their honeymoon visiting relatives of the bridegroom in Wisconsin and California.

To Meet Wednesday.
The advisory council of the United Daughters of Confederacy will meet Wednesday morning, November 13, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Confederate Memorial Home.

At a meeting of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, No. 614, U. D. C., held Wednesday, November 8, at Confederate Memorial Home, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Walter E. Hutton, first vice president, Mrs. Lee Webb second Richter; treasurer, Miss Ida Willoughby; historian, Mrs. Horace Whitaker; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Wallace Streeter, registrar, Mrs. E. H. Lynham; chaplain, Mrs. Porter Barrett; custodian, Mrs. Clara Gathgens.

The following delegates and alternates were elected to the District convention, to be held December 4: Mrs. Walter E. Hutton, Mrs. A. H. Plant, Mrs. Hunter Laughton, Mrs. Wallace Streeter, Miss C. Blanche Sinclair, Mrs. Porter Barrett, Mrs. Stephen H. Ford, Mrs. J. Lee Webb, Mrs. Lee Roy Gray, Mrs. Charles W. Richter, Mrs. William P. Davis, Mrs. E. H. Lynham, Mrs. Max Foster, Miss Edith Richter, Mrs. E. Hutton Jackson, and Mrs. Archibald Young.

Alternates: Mrs. George Corvinton, Mrs. Belle C. Riley, Mrs. J. William Kyle, Mrs. Clara Gathgens, Mrs. E. G. Clay, Mrs. Theodore Judd, Mrs. George Horning, Mrs. John M. Hickey, Mrs. John T. Callaghan, Mrs. A. Eugene Barr, Mrs. Eugenia Rollins, Mrs. H. W. Kearney, Miss Ida Willoughby, Miss Fannie E. Adams, Mrs. M. H. Light, and Mrs. Gabriel Edmondston.

The retiring president, Mrs. E. Hutton Jackson reported over $2,000 having resulted from the season's work, out of which Liberty Bonds had been purchased and donations made to a hospital bed and to the Red Cross.

The Washington, D. C., Section, Council of Jewish Women, will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, November 12, at 2:30 o'clock in the vestry of the Eighth Street Temple. The speaker of the afternoon will be Capt. Hather Watts, the fighting chaplain, who has just returned from France.

LIMITS COAL FEES
Fees for storing coal in cellars after midnight delivery shall not exceed 25 cents a ton, according to a ruling by Frank G. Jones, District fuel chief, following the receipt of numerous complaints protesting against exorbitant charges for putting coal in bins.

Sometimes rates as high as $2.50 a ton were charged, the fuel administrator said. He declared the charge was so high because it was impossible to get men to do the work.

HOW TO FIGHT OFF THE GRIP
Commonsense Rules Everybody Should Follow to Avoid Danger from Great Epidemic

To keep well—keep clean. Avoid the person who sneezes. Warmth is necessary—be well clothed. Sleep well, eat well, play well. Avoid over-exertion. Do not let yourself get run-down. Those who are weak and run-down are the earliest victims.

Remember that Father John's Medicine makes fighting strength to ward off the attacks of the grip. Keep away from houses where there are cases of influenza.

A neglected cold leads to grip or pneumonia. Take Father John's Medicine at the first sign of cold. It has had more than 60 years of success treating colds and coughs. Do not take medicine containing narcotic drugs, derivatives of opium or other poisons. You are safe when you take Father John's Medicine because it is guaranteed free from all alcohol or dangerous drugs.

NUXATED IRON
To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience more valuable than an organic iron. Nuxated Iron, says Dr. James Francis Collins, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, Yonkers, N. Y., "increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two or three weeks. It is now being taken by over three million people annually, including such men as Gen. Leslie M. Shaw, formerly Secre-

States Senator and Vice-Prudential nominee, Charles A. Towne (General John A. Cleburne), the drummer boy of Shiloh, who was sergeant in the United States Army when only 15 years of age; also United States Judge W. A. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.
